TO THE DIRECTOR

Although its samba groove is a relatively active one, it is important not to rush beyond the indicated tempo. This chart begins with a double introduction, the first is a 4 measure ascending tension that builds toward the initial groove (2nd introduction) in measure 5. This leads to the main theme at measure 13, a long form AABA song (16 measures in each section) that features an alto and trumpet duet in the 1st two A sections. The rhythm section has time stops in this section that are essential to the performance of the piece.

The B section at measure 45 is a two-part ascending line played between the trumpets and trombones. This leads to the final A section at measure 61 stated by the entire ensemble, then followed by solo sections for both trumpet (measure 77) and alto (measure 135), with background figures for both. The two solos are separated by a short interlude to break up the repetition of the song form. Three ensemble sections follow the solo sections. The first one (measure 189) begins at a mezzo piano dynamic, so be sure to decrescendo at the end of the alto solo. These ensemble sections begin with the trumpets and trombones trading phrases once again, gradually building momentum to the tutti ensemble for the next 32 measures.

The saxophones have a soli at measure 221 followed by a restatement of the last A section by the full band at measure 237. The chart ends with the repetition of the final phrase of the tune inverted upward, with a crescendo to the end.

SoloMate recordings are available at kendormusic.com for new Kendor and Doug Beach releases. This innovative resource lets students practice their solos by downloading professionally-recorded rhythm section accompaniment tracks. A full recording of this chart can be downloaded at www.kendormusic.com.
